Event Cancellation and Non-Appearance insurance

The number of events being held globally is increasing every year, with a significant portion of this growth in the Asia-Pacific region. Not only are these events growing in number, but in terms of scale and complexity, exposing event organisers to an array of potential risks that may lead to an event being cancelled or postponed. Non-appearance of an important performer, sports person or guest speaker is a fundamental concern of the organiser of an event or conference. Whether the reason is accidental, illness, death or unavoidable travel delay, there is a potential that the event cannot go ahead, leading to significant financial implications.
